Dear DEPT hiring team,

I am writing about the Manager, Programmatic role based in Mar del Plata. I have not yet done hands-on programmatic media buying in a DSP such as DV360, The Trade Desk or Amazon DSP, and I have not negotiated Programmatic Guaranteed or PMP deals. That is a real gap against this role's core requirement. I live in Mar del Plata, where DEPT has an office, so the hybrid setup suits me, and the part of this role built around turning data into a client-ready story is close to work I already do daily. DEPT describes itself as built equally on technology and marketing, and that combination is exactly the direction I want to grow in.

At BBVA Argentina I run daily operations on the bank's CRM and internal systems, resolving over 50 customer queries per week and guiding more than 100 customers weekly through migration to digital channels by translating technical steps into plain language. I am also completing the Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate, building the SQL, spreadsheet and visualisation skills this role's client reporting runs on.

- Data discipline: SQL, spreadsheets and data visualisation from the Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate, applied daily to CRM and operational metrics.
- Translating data for non-technical audiences: converting technical banking processes into clear guidance for over 100 customers per week, the same instinct needed to explain programmatic performance to a client.
- Measure-then-adjust habit: three seasons managing local brands' social content, reviewing reach and engagement in Meta Business Suite and adjusting the next cycle based on what the numbers showed.
- Communication: advanced English, ready for daily work with a team abroad, plus a UTN diploma in oral communication and rhetoric.

What I bring today is the analytical foundation and client-communication habits this role depends on. I learn demanding systems quickly, from a bank's CRM to a data analytics certificate completed alongside a full-time job and a degree, and I would bring that same discipline to learning DV360 or The Trade Desk on the job, under a team that already runs Programmatic Guaranteed and PMP deals at DEPT's scale.

I would welcome the conversation about building into this role from strong data fundamentals and client-facing execution, with the DSP hours to follow on the job. I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,
