Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Marketing Specialist, Automation & Funnels role. My work sits exactly where this position does: I spend every day inside a CRM at BBVA Argentina, keeping client data clean and moving people from a first enquiry to a resolved case, with retention and client experience as the stated priority rather than one-off transactions. That is the same job your funnels do, only automated across email, SMS and WhatsApp.

Colombo & Hurd serves clients largely from Latin America with a team of over 450 professionals across the U.S. and the region. As a native Spanish speaker with advanced English, I can write, segment and test communications in both languages without translation flattening the tone, and group audiences by language preference or case type as the role describes. Immigration is a process where people are anxious and every message matters; that empathy is what I already practise daily at a bank counter.

What I would bring to your funnels from day one:

- CRM discipline and list hygiene: daily hands-on CRM work, correcting records, logging interactions and segmenting clients by profile, under strict banking privacy rules. Clean data and confidentiality are habits, not a checklist item.
- Journeys and follow-up: over 50 client queries per week carried from first contact to closure, plus over 100 clients per week guided through digital-channel adoption. I know where people drop off and why.
- Content, copy and testing: 15 posts per month shipped on Instagram and Facebook for local brands, writing conversion-oriented copy and keeping the angles that generated enquiries.
- Reporting on evidence: the Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate I am completing (SQL, spreadsheets, visualisation) is the toolkit for weekly open rate, click rate and booking reports.

To be straightforward about the gap: I have not worked hands-on inside Salesforce, HubSpot, Zapier or Typeform, so I would learn those platforms during your training. The logic behind them, segmentation, journeys, list hygiene and A/B testing, is the part I already understand, and I pick up tools fast while working, studying and certifying in parallel.

I am based in Mar del Plata, set up to work remotely and independently, and available on U.S. hours. I would welcome the chance to discuss how I can help keep your leads moving from first inquiry to case completion. I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,

Bianca Dondero
