Dear Kirin hiring team,

I am writing about the Klaviyo Lifecycle Marketing Manager role. Owning retention, turning first-time buyers into repeat customers and tying every send back to repeat purchase rate and LTV is exactly the work that draws me: at BBVA I run daily operations on the bank's CRM with a clear focus on retention and long-term customer relationships, and I want to bring that focus fully into e-commerce lifecycle marketing.

Here is how my background maps to what this role needs:

- Retention on CRM: I manage daily CRM operations and orient over 100 customers per week through digital-channel adoption, prioritising retention and customer experience.
- Reporting without hiding behind attribution: I am completing the Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate (SQL, spreadsheets, visualisation) and work comfortably in spreadsheets to read metrics and explain performance honestly.
- Campaign calendar and copy: across three seasons I planned content calendars, wrote conversion-oriented copy and QA'd every publish across Instagram and Facebook.

I will be direct about fit. This is a hands-on Klaviyo role, and I do not yet have hands-on Klaviyo or Shopify experience, nor three years owning DTC retention: my retention and CRM work so far has been in banking, and my lifecycle knowledge of welcome, abandonment, post-purchase and win-back flows is studied rather than shipped. What I bring is real retention and customer-data experience, disciplined copy and QA habits, spreadsheet-based reporting, and a fast learning curve across new tools. I would step in knowing I have platform ground to make up, and I would close it quickly.

If you are open to a candidate who is strong on retention thinking and data and ready to go deep on Klaviyo, I would welcome the chance to make the case in person.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,

Bianca Dondero
