Dear Virtustant hiring team,

I am writing about the Lifecycle Marketer role for your fintech client. Owning user communication across the whole journey, from sign-up and activation to engagement, reactivation and retention, is exactly the work that draws me: at BBVA I run daily operations on the bank's CRM with a clear focus on activation and retention, guiding over 100 customers per week through digital-channel adoption. I am a native Spanish speaker with advanced English, based in Argentina, and I want to bring that retention focus into a fintech serving Latin America.

Here is how my background maps to the three pillars in the role:

- Lifecycle & CRM: I manage daily CRM operations and orient over 100 customers per week toward activation and retention, prioritising the customer experience at each stage.
- Testing & analytics: I am completing the Google Data Analytics Professional Certificate (SQL, spreadsheets, visualisation) and work comfortably in spreadsheets to read funnels, cohorts and retention, and to define what a campaign should move before I ship it.
- Communications & copy: across three seasons I planned content calendars, wrote conversion-oriented copy and QA'd every publish, and I am comfortable bringing AI tools such as Claude Code into content generation and analysis.

I will be direct about fit. My retention and CRM work so far has been in banking rather than fintech, and I have not yet shipped end-to-end automated flows in Mixpanel or OneSignal across SMS, push, WhatsApp and in-app; my knowledge of those channels is studied rather than executed at scale. What I bring is real retention and customer-data experience, a data-first habit of measuring before I send, disciplined copy and QA, fluent Spanish and English, and a fast learning curve on new tools. I would step in knowing I have platform ground to make up, and I would close it quickly.

I would welcome the chance to discuss how I can own lifecycle programs across your user segments.

Kind regards,

Bianca Dondero
